DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, January 5, 1911.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a letter of the 27th ultimo from the Secretary to the President, with its inclosure, copy of Senate Resolution of December 21, 1910, requesting certain information regarding Presidential appointments. The number of such appointments, given approximately, under this department or issued by this department, is as follows:

Presidential appointments, including diplomatic, consular, and miscellaneous, on confirmation by the Senate, 441.

Presidential appointments, including diplomatic, consular, and miscellaneous, not confirmed by the Senate, 94.

All of the appointees above enumerated are subject to removal by the President without action on the part of Congress. It is presumed that the number of officers and employees subject to civil-service regulations will be furnished by the Civil Service Commission for all the departments, and the number of such positions under this department is not therefore stated herein.

I have the honor to be, Mr. President, with great respect, Faithfully, yours, P. C. Knox

To the President,

The White House.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, February 13, 1911.

My Dear Mr. President: Again referring to the letter of December 27 last, from the Secretary to the President, requesting information in response to the Senate resolution of December 21, 1910, I have the honor to inform you that the number of officers and employees in this department subject to the civil-service regulations is 177. All of the officers and employees are subject to removal by the President without action by Congress.

I have the honor to be, my dear Mr. President, with great respect, Faithfully, yours, P. C. Knox.

To the PRESIDENT,

The White House.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY, Washington, December 30, 1910.

My Dear Mr. President: I hand you herewith the information from the Treasury Department requested by a resolution of the Senate agreed to December 21, and requested under your direction December 27.

Very sincerely, yours,

The President,

The White House.

FRANKLIN MACVEAGH.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, Washington, D. C., January 13, 1911.

DEAR Mr. Secretary: In accordance with your communication of December 27, 1910, in which you request the Secretary of Agriculture to furnish the President data in compliance with the resolution of Congress to furnish the Senate for its use, if he does not deem it incompatible with public interest, the following information, with departmental classification of the same:

First. The total number of appointments which are made by the President upon nomination and confirmation by the Senate.

Second. The total number of appointments which are made by the President, but which do not require nomination to and confirmation by the Senate.

Third. The total number of officers and employees of the Government subject to civil service regulations, specifying classification and number of postmasters. Fourth. The total number of officers and employees subject to removal by the President without action on the part of Congress.

In reply to question No. 1, there are three appointments in the Department of Agriculture which are made by the President upon nomination and confirmation by the Senate, namely, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Assistant Secretary, and the Chief of the Weather Bureau.

In answer to question No. 2, there are no appiontments made by the President in the Department of Agriculture which do not require nomination to and confirmation by the Senate.

In answer to question No. 3, there are in the Department of Agriculture 11,438 officers and employees subject to civil service regulations. Of this number, however, 3,051, while subject to civil service regulations, are appointed for a temporary period and excepted from examination by the civil service rules before appointment, which leaves $8,387 subject to every civil service regulation without any exception. In addition to the foregoing there are 1,081 unskilled manual laborers, including 97 charwomen, not subject to civil service regulations, but especially excepted therefrom by the civil service act of January 16, 1883, which makes the total number of officers and employees of every description in the Department of Agriculture on December 31, 1910, to be 12,519.

In answer to question No. 4, the entire force of the Department of Agriculture, comprising 12,519 officers and employees, are subject to removal by the President without action on the part of Congress.

Very respectfully,

W. M. HAYS, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Hon. Charles D. Norton. Secretary to the President, The White House.

Total number of officers and employees of the Government subject to civil service regulations, and also total number of employees, in the unskilled manual labor grade, in the United States Department of Agriculture on December 31, 1910.

Total number of officers and employees of the Government in the United States Department of Agriculture subject to civil service regulations on Dec. 31, 11,438 1910......

Of the foregoing number of officers and employees of the Government in the Department of Agriculture subject to civil service regulations on Dec. 31 1910, the following number are excepted from examination by the civil 3,051 service rules before appointment....

Total number of the aforesaid 11,438 officers and employees in the Department of Agriculture subject to civil service regulations without any exception

There are employed in the Department of Agriculture the following number of unskilled manual laborers, not subject to civil service regulations, as per section 7, civil service act, approved Jan. 16, 1883, but employed according to regulations established by the President (of which number 97 are charwomen, and of the remaining 984 the great majority are employed in the field service or in the forest reserves of the department)..... 1,081 Total number of officers and employees of the Department of Agriculture on Very respectfully,

> W. M. HAYS, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

To the President, White House.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND LABOR, Office of the Secretary, Washington, December 31, 1910.

My Dear Mr. Norton: I transmit herewith, in compliance with the President's request, statement of the number of officers and employees of this department, as called for, in part, by Senate resolution No. 312 of December 21, 1910.

As the department was not advised as to the purpose of the resolution, it was in some doubt whether if the totals merely were given (as the resolution presumably calls for) the statement would not be misleading, and it has accordingly been prepared in a somewhat detailed form, with explanatory notes, the totals being given in the The number of presidential officers now on the rolls of the margin. department is considerably increased by the remaining census superf visors, whose services will be discontinued upon the completion otheir work, while the large number of temporary Thirteenth Census appointees greatly augments the number of the personnel. number of vacancies in permanent positions and the "job" employments indicated in the table also show how the total number of officers and employees is likely to fluctuate from month to month. division of the force under the "civil-service regulations" into the three classes—classified competitive, classified excepted, and unclassified—is of such a radical nature so far as the manner of appointment, etc., is concerned that it was thought best to segregate them by bureaus to prevent any misunderstanding. As the temporary force employed from time to time by the field officers is not regarded as a part of the department's personnel and as it is impossible to give the actual number at the present time, or in some cases for several months past, they are not included in the totals; but the total number, according to the latest reports, are given in the footnotes.

Very truly, yours,

Charles Nagel, Secretary.

Statement of number of officers and employees of the Department of Commerce and Labor. [Called for, in part, by Senate resolution No. 312. of December 21, 1910. Prepared as of December 28, 1910.]

First. The total number of appointments which are made by the President upon nomination to and Includes 1 Assistant Director of the Census authorized only during the decennial census period which ends June 30, 1912, and 49 supervisors of the census still on the rolls out of the 330 authorized by the Thirteenth Census act of July 2, 1909.

Second. The total number of appointments which are made by the President, but which do not require nomination to and confirmation by the Senate.

Three of these were actually confirmed by the Senate although such confirmation is not required by by by low.

by by law.

Third. The total number of officers and employees of the Government (department) subject to civil-service regulations, specifying classification and number of postmasters.

service regulations, specifying classification and number of postmasters.

Note.—The following table shows by bureaus and offices the total number of officers and employees (except those indicated above) both permanent and temporary who receive formal appointments, classified according to civil-service status, viz, whether "competitive," i. e., occupying positions which must be filled as a result of open competitive examinations if not otherwise slilled as provided by the civil-service at and rules; whether "excepted," i. e., occupying positions subject to the provisions of the act and rules but which may be filled by the appointment of any suitable persons without examination under schedule A of the rules or general Executive orders; or whether "unclassified," i. e., occupying positions which are not subject to any of the provisions of the civil-service act and rules. Included among the "unclassified" appointments are those of mere unskilled laborer and charwoman which, in some of the larger cities where "labor regulations" are in effect, must be made from eligible lists established upon registration after physical examination. "Job" employees are appointees for temporary "job" work upon completion of which positions will be abolished.

> Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, January 11, 1911.

DEAR SIR: The commission is in receipt of your letter of the 27th ultimo, together with copy of resolution dated December 21, 1910.

1. There are at present seven positions, namely, those of Interstate Commerce Commissioners, which are filled by appointment by the President upon nomination to and confirmation by the Senate.

2. This commission has no positions filled by appointment by the President which do not require nomination to and confirmation by the Senate.

3. Positions of attorneys and confidential clerks to commissioners are excepted from examination. Practically all other positions under this commission are governed by the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission and are filled from registers created as the result of examinations held by it. Special agents, assigned to the Division of Prosecutions in connection with the enforcing of that portion of the act which relates to the investigation of criminal violations of the law were appointed under authority of an Executive order when this division was first organized. Since that time these positions have been filled by men already in the employ of the commission who have previously passed a civil service examination. Safety-appliance inspectors are given a noncompetitive examination at the office of the commission by the safety appliance board. Inclosed you will find a circular containing the regulations governing the employment of safety-appliance inspectors. Hours-of-service inspectors are appointed under authority of an Executive order and are required to file a form showing their experience, which must be of such a nature as to satisfy the Civil Service Commission that they are qualified to hold these positions.

4. Interstate Commerce Commissioners, seven in number, are subject to removal by the President without action on the part of Congress, as provided by the act to regulate commerce.

5. There are now 614 officers and employees of this commission, as follows: Seven commissioners, 1 secretary, 1 chief clerk, 1 disbursing clerk, 1 solicitor, 14 attorneys, designated as examiners who take testimony in contested cases filed with this commission, 7 attorneys, 1 statistician, 1 chief examiner of accounts, 1 Chief of Bureau of Tariffs, 1 assistant statistician, 1 assistant auditor, 5 confidential clerks to commissioners, 6 chiefs of divisions, 10 special agents under the Division of Prosecutions, 4 law clerks, 1 official stenographer, 1 inspector clerk, 1 cashier, 75 examiners of railroad accounts, 25 safety-appliance inspectors, 3 hours-of-service inspectors, 15 senior clerks, 1 printing clerk, 68 clerks, 182 junior clerks, 77 under clerks, 1 telephone operator, 4 skilled laborers, 11 messengers, 5 watchmen, 2 classified laborers, 15 laborers, 38 messenger boys, 15 charwomen, and 12 temporary employees. While practically all of the salaries of employees of the commission are graded according to the recommendation made by the Keep Commission report, there are many instances where the employees do not receive the salary suggested for the character of work performed. For your purpose the following statement is made giving the number of employees according to departmental classification:

-	Number.

Class 5	. 42
Class 4	. 66
Class 3	. 58

In addition to the foregoing, Prof. Henry C. Adams is employed and is specially in charge of work in connection with the requirements of section 20 of the act to regulate commerce respecting accounts and statistics. Also Messrs. M. E. Cooley, B. B. Adams, Azel Ames, and F. G. Ewald are specially employed under joint resolution of the

S. Doc. 836, 61-3-2

Senate and House of June 30, 1906, and constitute the block signal and train control board, the members of which are paid per diem for such time as they are engaged in the work for which they are assigned.

The commission will be glad to furnish any additional information which you may desire in this connection.

Very respectfully,

Judson C. Clements, Acting Chairman.

Hon. Charles D. Norton, Secretary to the President, The White House, Washington, D. C.

> SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, Washington, January 4, 1911.

Dear Mr. Norton: In reply to your communication of December 27, 1910, transmitting copy of a resolution agreed to in the Senate December 21, 1910, requesting the President to furnish for the use of the Senate certain information relative to the officers and employees of the United States Government, I beg to submit the following in regard to the Government branches under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution:
